

RHODE ISLAND MEDICAL SOCIETY

- The Rhode Island Medical Society (RIMS) is offering practices or professional organized medicine organizations with ten or more physician members a flat dues rate of $395 for every physician no matter what their member category is/would be with RIMS. This is a discount of $100 off of Full Active membership ($495) in RIMS!
 - Every physician member will enjoy the benefits of Full Active membership in RIMS, which includes but is not limited to:
 - Advocacy in the Rhode Island community (Includes but is not limited to the advocating for legislative affairs, regulatory matters, insurance carrier issues, Physician Health Program, Tar Wars® Anti-tobacco Education, ASK (Asking Saves Kids) Campaign, Annual Bike Helmet Distribution, etc.)
 - Updates on important Rhode Island and national medicine developments
 - Medicine & Health Rhode Island Magazine (monthly publication)
 - Rhode Island Medical News (the official membership newsletter)
 - One dues invoice will be given to the practice/organization's accounts payable for the entire physician roster. Therefore, this program will reduce the practice/organization's staff time in collecting/issuing payment of numerous invoices and investigating individual physician's possible membership categories, as each physician is categorized the same.
 - In this 100% participation dues discount program, the practice or professional organized medicine organization must commit to enrolling the entire practice/organization's physicians into the Rhode Island Medical Society (RIMS).
 - An accounting of the practice/organization's physician roster will be issued in September of each year.
 - If a potential member happens to be a physician assistant, the dues rate will be reduced to $55. The practice is not required to have all physician assistants as members, only interested individuals.
-

Please contact Megan E. Turcotte, Associate Director, Member Services, for further information at (401) 331-3207.

The Rhode Island Medical Society looks forward to having you and your colleagues join the RIMS 100% Club!