

We are read everywhere

RIMJ reaches a worldwide audience. In 2020 to date, readers viewed 7,000-plus pages of the Journal and its archives from 82 countries; the top 10 readership locales were:

- | | |
|--------------|--------------|
| 1. US | 6. China |
| 2. Canada | 7. India |
| 3. UK | 8. Spain |
| 4. Australia | 9. Hong Kong |
| 5. Germany | 10. Italy |

BIG ISLAND, HAWAII

Petroglyphs, images chiseled into lava rock, can be found in abundance on the Big Island of Hawaii along the north-western Kohala Coast. The rock art dates back to more than a thousand years.

Above, in early February before travel restrictions were put in place, RIMJ managing editor Mary Korr studied the human figures, flora and fauna, as well as geometric forms, at Petroglyph Park in Puako and at the Waikoloa preserve.