
RHODE ISLAND MEDICAL JOURNAL

The logo of the Rhode Island Medical Society is circular, featuring a central figure holding a staff with a snake, surrounded by the text "RHODE ISLAND MEDICAL SOCIETY" and the year "1812" at the bottom.

RIMJ seeks social-media-savvy Board member

The Rhode Island Medical Journal (RIMJ) is seeking a social-media-savvy applicant to join its Editorial Board. Responsibilities include assisting in expanding RIMJ's reach and visibility on social media platforms, reporting site analytics, and researching and reporting on other medical social media platforms to inform the Board.

Expected time commitment is flexible, at several hours a month, and attendance at quarterly board meetings held via Zoom. A volunteer position, it is open to health care professionals in the RI medical community, and students, residents, or fellows.

Interested candidates can contact William Binder, MD, editor-in-chief, and Mary Korr, managing editor, at:

william_binder@brown.edu

mkorr@rimed.org