

We are read everywhere

In 2025, more than 60,000 unique viewers worldwide have read Rhode Island Medical Journal articles or researched topics from its archives, rimedj.org.

RANCHO PALOS VERDES, CALIFORNIA

The annual American Medical Association (AMA) State Advocacy Summit, January 8–10.

Attendees heard from national experts on the critical issues impacting medicine at the state level, strategized with advocacy leaders on their organizations' state legislative and regulatory priorities, and networked with other physician leaders and colleagues from across the country.

Alexander Ding, MD, MS, MBA, Secretary of the AMA Board of Trustees and an interventional radiologist in Louisville, Kentucky.

Michael Migliori, MD, FACS, RIMS Chair of Public Laws and Ophthalmologist-in-Chief at Rhode Island Hospital, and Steve DeToy, RIMS government relations consultant, read RIMJ's January issue while attending The State Advocacy Summit.

