General
The Rhode Island Medical Journal is a peer-reviewed publication. We welcome articles, including case reports, clinical reviews and Images and Videos in Medicine, from the Rhode Island and regional healthcare community, our target audience. Articles submitted for publication must not have been published elsewhere or be under consideration for publication. The editors reserve the right to edit any material submitted.

Copyright Information
Accepted manuscripts become the permanent property of the Rhode Island Medical Journal and may not be published elsewhere without permission from the Journal. All authors must complete a copyright transfer form, which can be filled out either electronically or printed and scanned, and is available here.

To be considered for publication, submissions should include:

Brief title
8 words or less

Content
400–600 words. Relevant clinical information, findings, clinical course, and response to treatment if initiated.

Video
Provide a single high-resolution MP4 video file which has not been published elsewhere. Landscape is preferred to vertical orientation. Any identifying information should be removed from the image. Prior to submission, written permission to publish the video must be provided by the patient. A low-resolution video will not be accepted. Note, the video may be reduced for publication, and will be linked to and embedded on rimedj.org for playback.

Legends
The video’s content should be briefly described and explained in a legend.
